

BURNING AUTO IS REMOVED IN TIME

Touring Car Belonging to J. M. Harrold, Blazes up While Left in Newhouse Garage

IS PUSHED OUT INTO ALLEY

Electric Lamp Cord Sets off Pan of Gasoline Threatening Garage—House Damaged Today

A Ford touring car was practically destroyed by fire and the garage owned and operated by Knowlton Newhouse, at the rear of 220 North Perkins street was threatened by fire Friday afternoon shortly before five o'clock, when the machine, owned by Joel M. Harrold caught fire while it was being worked on in the garage.

Mr. Harrold, who lives at 224 North Julian street, is a rural route carrier on route 8, and no insurance was carried on the machine. The engine was not damaged, but the body was destroyed, and he estimated the loss at $150.

The machine was inside of the garage while workmen were making repairs on it, and an open can of gasoline was inside of the car. In dragging an electric lamp cord that contained a light, a short circuit in the cord caused a spark to set the gasoline off, and in an instant the machine was blazing all over. Garagemen used good presence of mind and pushed the flaming machine out into the alley.

The mechanical truck from the fire station responded and put out the blaze, and as the smoke filled the garage it gave the appearance of a fire on the inside, a second alarm was sounded, which brought other fire apparatus to the scene, but they were not needed.

The garage building is a large frame structure and is surrounded by many other barns and buildings, which would have been endangered if the machine had exploded or spread to the building.

This morning the residence occupied by Patrolman Claude Smith, 226 North Julian street, located in the same vicinity of the garage, caught fire from sparks from a chimney, about eleven o'clock and a $25 loss was suffered.

The fire is believed to have caught from sparks falling on the shingles from a neighbor's house, and a large patch of shingles was burned off. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals, requiring 50 gallons to put out the blaze.

RADIO FANS HEAR OTHER COUNTRIES

Reception Was Fairly Good Friday Night, First Time Within Several Weeks

NOISE DISAPPEARED FRIDAY

Plans For Locating Electric Interference Will go Forward, as Noise Returned Today

Friday night was the first opportunity this week for Rushville radio fans to tune in on foreign stations, as the air which has been filled with an electrical interference, remained clear all day and night yesterday.

Arrangements had been made by city officials and traction company engineers to conduct an investigation for the trouble last night, but because the interference did not appear, the test was not made.

The noise however had reappeared at noon today and if it continued tonight, an effort was to be made by radio fans to have the two companies work on the plan that they had expected to follow last night.

During the period last night between ten and eleven o'clock, set aside for foreign reception, practically every radio outfit in Rushville was in use, and because it was their first opportunity to listen in on the programs, no unusual results were reported. Interference between the numerous receiving sets caused most of the disturbance last night.

Many persons heard foreign stations giving programs but they were unable to learn the locations, because of the foreign language used, and others reported hearing British stations, but the accent on the English language was confusing and hard to understand.

Stanley Williams, living west of Rushville, outside of the bounds of the interference, reported today that he received station 5NO, Newcastle, England and Madrid Spain in excellent form, and that the reception was so strong that the head sets vibrated and were laid on the table and then heard throughout the room. His set consists of four tubes.

Other people in Rushville today reported that some of the west coast stations in the United States did not observe the rule of remaining silent during the hour and such stations as Hollywood, and Los Angeles came in and interfered with the foreign reception.

The broadcasting experiments between the United States and the European continent will be continued tonight and Sunday night, with the stations on this side entertaining the foreign countries between 9 and 10 o'clock and then the foreign countries returning the courtesy with programs.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 29—Ideal atmospheric conditions prevailed Friday night as Indianapolis radio fans again heard European artists in the broadcasting of British and continental radio stations.

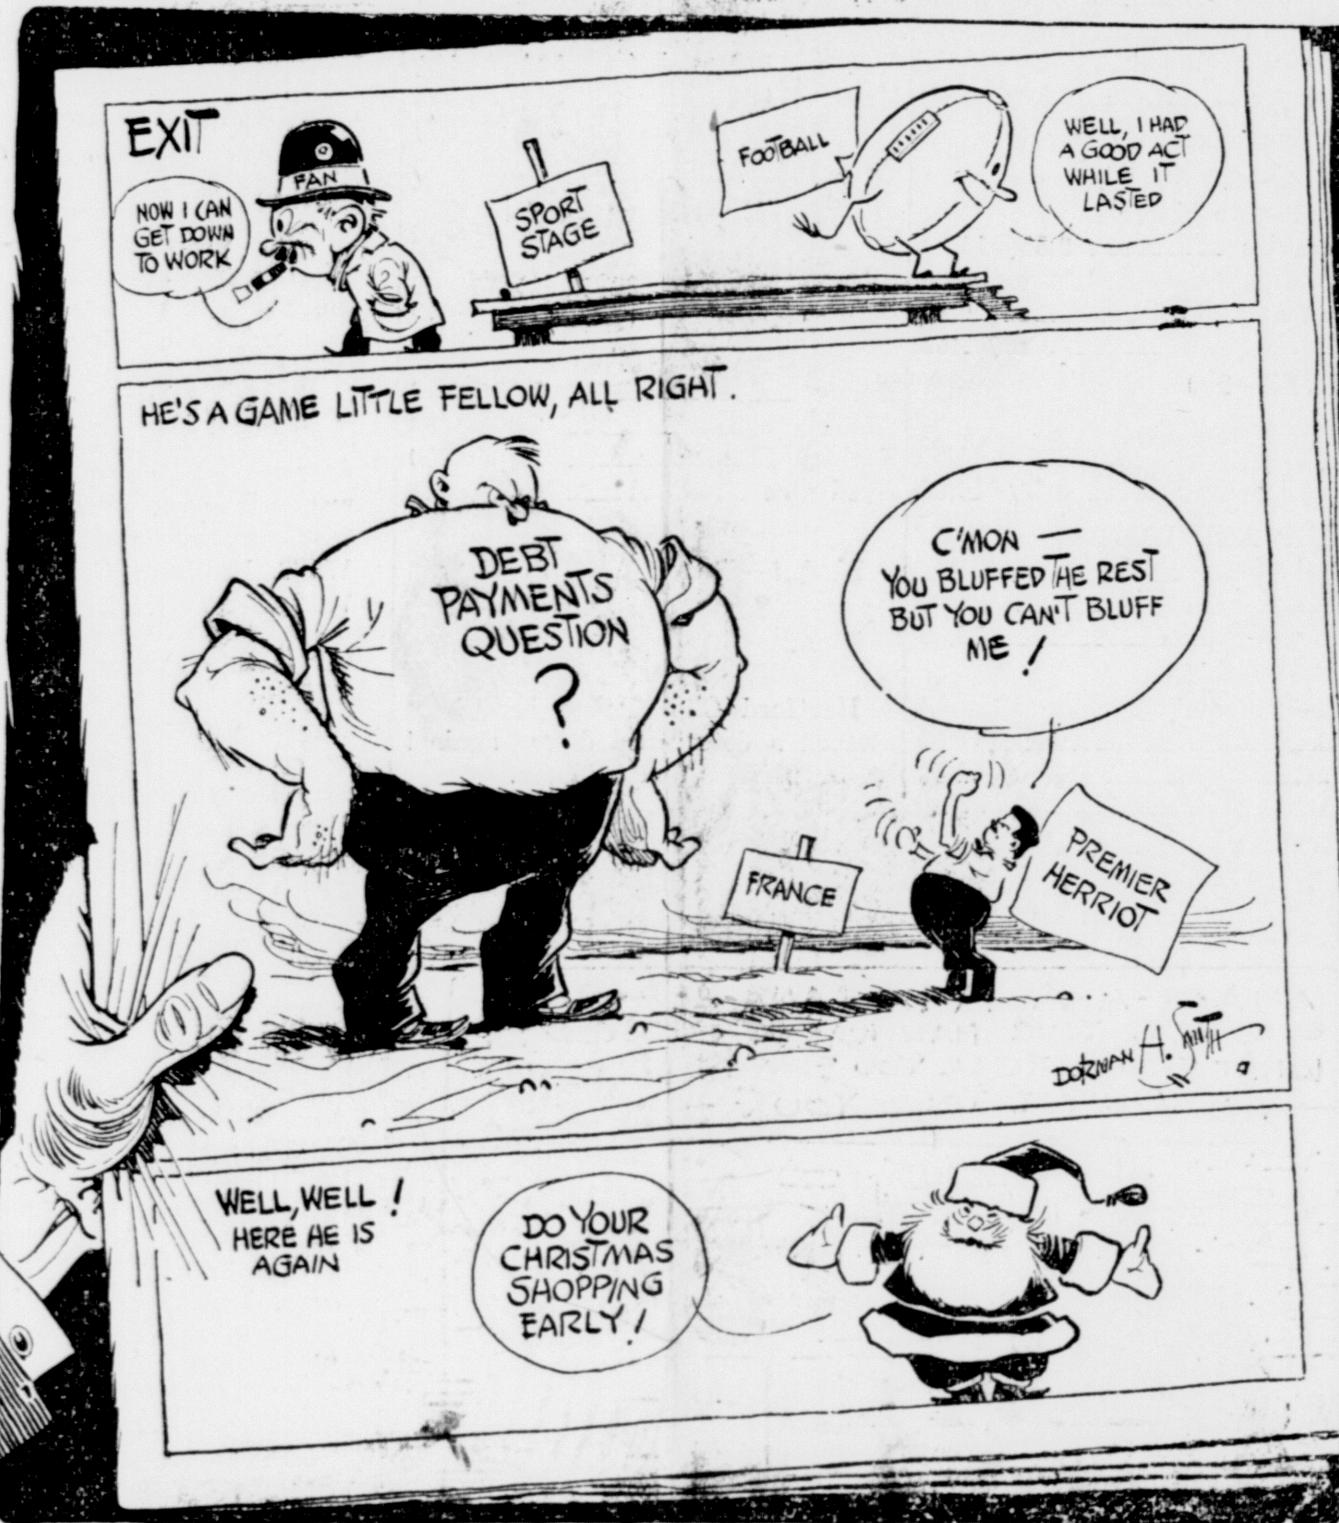

Andrew Allen with a twelve tube set brought in five European stations within the hour allotted to foreign stations.

He heard Brussels, Paris, Edinburgh, Berlin and Birmingham.

FURNACE MYSTERY IS BACK WHERE IT BEGAN

Prosecutor Admits Nothing is Accomplished by Re-Examining Members of Sheatsley Family

LAST CHAPTER IS WRITTEN

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 29—Having run its course, the Sheatsley furnace mystery today returned to the point where it began.

Authorities have exhausted every possible clue and theory and today find themselves no nearer a solution than a week ago last Monday night when Mrs. Addie Sheatsley's partly cremated remains were taken from the Lutheran parsonage furnace.

Barring unforeseen developments, the last chapter in the weird case which for nearly two weeks has held the interest and the imagination of the whole country, was written late last night when John R. King, county prosecutor finished questioning members of the Sheatsley family.

The husband and the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley and his two sons, Milton, 20, and Clarence 16, were kept at the court house until a late hour while the prosecutor, his assistant, a detective and Dr. R. C. Tarbell, alienist examined them one at a time. The result was that the pastor and his two sons told the same story they had told so often before.

"The quizz was profitless," King said today. "It got us nowhere."

WILL CALL FIRST WITNESS MONDAY

Government to Begin Presenting Evidence in Veteran's Bureau Scandal, with Statements Concluded

DEFENSE OUTLINES CASE

Attorneys for Forbes and Thompson Jointly Accused, Will Show Clients Innocent Victims

(By United Press)

Chicago, Nov. 29—First government witnesses against Col. Charles R. Forbes, former Veterans' Bureau chief, and John W. Thompson, millionaire contractor of St. Louis, jointly indicted in charges of defrauding the government in the construction of Veterans' Hospitals will be called in federal court here Monday.

Opening statements of counsel were completed late yesterday and Judge George A. Carpenter continued court until next week.

James S. Easby-Smith, and Robert Loughlin, attorneys for Forbes and Thompson, told the jury they would prove during the course of the trial that their clients were innocent victims of the vengeful mind and heart of Elias H. Mortimer, a former government agent. Mortimer is to be a government witness against the defendants.

Mortimer, according to the defense attorneys, "misrepresented" affairs to Thompson, promising him huge profits through government contracts—and Thompson, "a simple soul," believed him.

Loughlin was interrupted in his statement by the court on the ground he was "going far afield" for an opening statement, but the St. Louis attorney replied he intended to prove every statement he was making.

The government case against Forbes and Thompson, consisting of charges that Forbes "sold" hospital contracts to Thompson, is a "pure fabrication," Loughlin declared. Mortimer, he said, was disappointed because Forbes did not make him a rich man and turned against his former friend, plotting to destroy him.

Another motive, Loughlin said, was Mortimer's belief that Forbes had alienated the affections of his wife, Katherine Tullidge of Philadelphia.

SEALS CAMPAIGN IS USHERED IN

Township Workers, Psi Iota Xi Committee and Woman's Council Meet At Luncheon

DR. AMOS CARTER SPEAKS

Head of Indiana Tuberculosis Sanitarium Tells Story of Development of Institution

Ushering in the 1924 Christmas tuberculosis workers, members of the Seals campaign, township Seals and Psi Iota Xi sorority, in charge of the campaign, and the Rushville Woman's Council, who are sponsoring the campaign, met at luncheon today at the Social club and heard an address by Dr. Amos Carter, head of the Indiana Tuberculosis sanitarium near Rockville.

Other short talks were made by Mrs. Fred Arbuckle, city chairman; Mrs. Birney D. Spradling of Indianapolis, daughter of Dr. Carter and a Seal worker, in Marion county, and representatives of the press and local civic clubs.

E. B. Thomas of San Juan, Porto Rico, and formerly of Rushville, was expected to speak, but was unable to be present.

All but three of the townships in the county were represented by one or more women workers, and the sorority committees who will have charge of the sale in the city, were present.

Mrs. T. M. Green, president of the Woman's Council, opened the program with a short talk introducing Mrs. L. M. Sexton, chairman of the program committee, who presided. Other members of the program committee were Miss Anna Bohannon and Mrs. Ed Spradling.

Mrs. Green said that as the Council began its third annual campaign for the sale of Seals, she felt assurance that it would be successful because of the cooperation of all the agencies that are interested in the work.

Mrs. Sexton expressed a similar sentiment when she took charge of the program and praised the members of the sorority and the township workers for the part they had played in the past and for the promise of their active support this year.

Mrs. Birney Spradling said that she wished Rush county might win the pennant, which Grant and Johnson counties have a way of exchanging back and forth year after year. Mrs. Spradling, who is a member of the publicity committee in Indianapolis and speaks before clubs seeking their support for the work, explained the way the campaign is conducted in that county.

Dr. Carter explained that the sanitarium now has accommodations for eighty patients, but that by "doubling up" 90 to 95 can be accommodated. From 68 to 75 counties are represented in the sanitarium all of the time, he said.

There are four other sanitoria in Indiana. Dr. Carter stated, the five having a bed capacity of about 675 patients. The real bed capacity of the state, he declared, should be one bed for each death from tuberculosis and last year the deaths numbered 2700.

The sanitarium, Dr. Carter recalled, was first governed by a partisan board, but in 1919 the board was made bi-partisan. It was at first nothing more than an infirmary, the speaker said, but it had been converted into a sanitarium in which cases were being arrested. Dr. Carter has been at the institution six years, and his first year there were 50 deaths among patients. The following year there were 8, the next year 5, the next year 3, and the last year 5.

Dr. Carter also explained the acquisition of the children's building accommodating 80 children from 16 years of age down. The children's turnover during the past 11 months, he said, had been 76. Dr. Carter told how school facilities for children had been added under great handicaps.

Mrs. Rena Warner asked the blessing before the luncheon was served, and after the meal Mrs. Alfred Norris sang, with piano accompaniment by Miss Brenda Kinsinger. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Norris sang another selection and was enthusiastically applauded.

Uncle Sam, Movie Magnate

Some of the leading moving picture stars and producers concentrate themselves with putting out one big picture a year. Uncle Sam, who has become a real movie magnate, is turning out his pictures at the rate of one every other week. He hires fairly good actors and takes his pick of the country's loveliest scenery.
Then he shoots, and the resulting films are said to thrill millions of observers every day.

The pictures range from one-reel fillers to seven-reel thrillers. The titles are as varied as the pictures, including such interesting ones as
"Out of the Shadows," "Behind the Breakfast Plate," "Red Enemy,"
"Garden Gold," "The Modern Pied Piper" and "Ann's Egglette." People, animals, mountains, and even tiny insects take part in these photoplays.

The pictures are instructive as well as beautiful and interesting.
Lieut. Lowell Smith who commanded the American round-the-world flight, is the star in "Red Enemy" in which he appears as leader of an airplane squadron on forest patrol duty. They find a forest fire and discover that a camping party is trapped in the burning area. Thrilling fire-fighting follows, and the rescue of the threatened people makes the happy ending.

By watching for Uncle Sam's movies the citizen can learn in a comfortable way a good deal about many interesting things. He will enjoy much sheer entertainment. This is proved by the fact that the demand for such pictures is already greater than the supply. Theatres, schools, colleges, churches and all sorts of community organizations
apply for them. There is now a government moving picture office and studio in Washington, equipped with the very finest machinery for the work.

War Debt Refunding

The report that negotiations have started for the refunding of the French war debt to the United States calls attention to the fact that agreements have been entered into with four nations for the refunding of debts created during the war.

Poland was the fourth nation to agree to repay this country, the sum involved amounting to about $179,- 000,000. Negotiations were conducted by the foreign debt refunding commission.

Congress must ratify the agreement before it becomes effective, but the approval of that body will be forthcoming, it is assured.

Steps are being taken to bring about a similar arrangement with other nations financed by the United States during the war, and although it has seemed a tedious process, the business-like way in which the debt collection has been undertaken is now beginning to bring results.

With splendid prospects of Europe's stability being restored through the Dawes plan, the next few years will undoubtedly see settlements with practically all of the debtor nations and the money of American taxpayers being returned to them in regular installments.

FIFTEEN YEARS
AGO TODAYFrom Daily Republican
Tuesday, November 30, 1909

The officials of the Fairview
Christian church have engaged the Rev. W. E. Shultz of Newcastle to preach at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. George Aultman have been noticing a very peculiar odor around their house, but could not locate the source of it. They finally came to the conclusion that the smell was caused by a dead animal some place in the vicinity of their residence and they set about to find the difficulty. Mr. Aultman had a happy idea and he went under the house to see if he could find the trouble. The farther he crawled the more certain he was that he was getting warm.
The odor became stronger and he finally in all his crawlings came upon an old well which had never been covered over. In there was a dead hog which had evidently been in there several days.

Miss Dean Brown and Clifford Travis returned from Kentucky last night, man and wife. Mrs. Travis is only fifteen years old and the youthful bridegroom is not many years older. They went to Kentucky Sunday and returned last evening married.

Guernsey Abernathy, who only recently accepted a position with the Presto Light Company in Indianapolis, has been advanced and sent to Omaha, Neb., where he will have charge of the offices there.

Now that the football season is over the athletes in the high school will turn their attention to basketball. Among the players who will try for the five are Earl Heeb, Lowell Norris, Carl Gunning, Don McRob-
erts, Tom Hiner, Raymond Wilcox, Howard Enbank and Harry Petry.
Prof. W. A. Stockinger is manager of the team.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ewing and family and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Kizer and family were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Kizer Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Demmer will be given a surprise this evening at their home, northwest of the city, by their neighbors in honor of their twenty-second wedding anniversary.
One of the special features will be an elaborate supper, prepared and served by the guests.

Ad V. Spivey was a Phi Delta Theta at Indiana University and tells some interesting stories of the famous junior "bolt" at that institution.
Mrs. Carmelia Casady of Hillsboro, Ill., is visiting Mr. and Mrs.
James Casady in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Schmidt have returned to their home in Newcastle
after spending Thanksgiving with
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beale in North
Oliver street.

The Hodge - Podge

By a Paragrapher with a Soul

Well, anyway, no one has blamed
the Chinese for the cross word puzzle.

You can't make marriage to order and get a good fit.

Money is no longer the root of all evil; it's the whole tree.

Most of the popular songs are two verses and a chorus, and that's all there is to be said for them.

You can very readily recognize a wise man by the things he doesn't say.

Some women have demonstrated they can keep a secret, because they don't tell all they know about their husbands.

The desire for a large car seems generally more prevalent than the desire for a large family.

It's not the kind of a car you drive
that counts; it's the way you drive it.

Don't forget that the leader of the orchestra was content to play second fiddle first.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTERBY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The only way to make prohibition prohibit, Congress will be told when it meets to consider appropriations for the next fiscal year, will be to dig a lot deeper into the national pocketbook.

Even here in the capital it must be admitted intoxicants are more readily obtainable than two or three years ago, and the quality is much more dependable.

Producers of "moonshine" are no longer amateurs. The product they turn out today, in large part,
lacks only proper aging to make it compare favorably with many of the cheaper brands of pre-prohibition liquor.

A large distilling layout, located directly across the street from the House office building, where congressmen have their offices, was raided a few days after election.

It was equipped to turn out a product which even congressional palates might have pronounced good, had not its presence been disclosed by sheer accident.

IN addition to added appropriations to finance the ferreting out of internally manufactured illicit beverages, a more extensive and expensive guard will have to be maintained against smuggled liquors before prohibition will prohibit.

Just what the coast guard and revenue cutter services are up against in trying to outwit the well-financed, carefully organized smuggling rings will be told House and Senate appropriations committees by Rear Admiral Fred C.
Billard and his aid, Lieut. Com.
Stephen Yeandle.

In order to get his facts straight, Yeandle recently went abroad in the guise of a man eager to learn the rum-running business, to lay a boat and get in on the "easy spoils."

He visited lonely points along the coast where bootleggers have set up warehouses and established underground transportation and communication systems more weird and devious than anything ever thought of in the old days of slavery's "underground railroad."

He will have some real thrills to recount that may stir Congress to recognition of the fact that the men it employs to enforce prohibition are pitted against a band of buccaneers as determined and resourceful as any of the band that sailed with Captain Kidd in the old days when piracy was the easy road to adventure and easy money.

PEPPER "COLE" BLEASE of South Carolina, elected to the United States Senate, has served notice on his constituents that, as a senator, he is too be-known henceforth as Coleman Livingston Blease, no less.

Down in Carolina, where "Cole" has been a hot coal in politics for the past decade, they have of late given him the diminutive title of "Colie." Of course it has been meant as a term of endearment.
But as a senator, Coleman doesn't want endearments. He wants dignity. "Cole" was bad enough, but "Colie"—that couldn't possibly be endured. It gave him a pain. Too much like "colic," perhaps.

Anyway, hereafter, remember, it is not "Cole" Blease, nor "Colie" Blease, but the Honorable Coleman
Livingston Blease, United States senator!

QUIETLY, but inexorably, General John J. Pershing, retired commander-in-chief of the
A. E. F. and general of all the American armies, is being fitted into a niche as the official representative of the United States at all formal celebrations by other nations.

Pershing sailed the other day as "special ambassador" of the United States, to attend Peru's celebration of the battle of Aya-cucho, from which the South American republic dates her independence.

Editor Republican—

Dear Sir: You certainly have hit the boneyard of memory in your new stunt. It awakens slumbering recollections and can not but prove highly interesting to young and old. Looking back over a space of sixty years, it awakens incidents, and brings to my memory people I have not thought of for years.

I have ventured to take advantage of your kind invitation to contribute a few although I could write columns of old recollections.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. JOYCE

Mrs. D. M. Pressnall of Arlington contributes the following:

When going into the Rushville

and when going out the sign read
"Last Chance?"

LIONS HITTING ON ALL 5 CYLINDERS

After Pulling Out Ahead, Rushville Shows Stuff it Takes to Beat Newcastle and Wins

TROJANS GAME TO THE LAST

Put up Scraggy Game, But Lions Defense is too Strong for Them—Local Combination Works Good

The Rushville Lions, hitting on all cylinders, downed the Newcastle Trojans in the basketball game here Friday night, by the score of 48 to 31, holding a 20 to 10 lead at the end of the first half, and after they pulled out ahead, the visiting team was unable to hold them in check.

The Trojans displayed a fast brand of ball and were dangerous around the basket, but the Rushville team had their rigid defense working and it was hard for them to penetrate, until toward the end of the game, when the locals directed their attention more to the offense.

Newcastle had an abundance of material on hand and made several substitutions and the new players also went big for them. Rushville did not substitute until the close of the game, when victory was sure.

The combination of Newbold and Arbuckle at forward, Lakin at center, McNamara and Miller at guards is working better in every game. Especially commendable is the showing that is being made by Newbold, Lakin and Miller. Arbuckle is showing up well as a running mate for Newbold, but being new on the varsity this year, he has not had the experience. He always manages to find the basket, and is as fast as the ball. McNamara at floor guard usually sinks the ball when a goal is needed, and there is not a better floor guard in this part of the state.

Edwards and Gauker, the two forwards on the Newcastle team, were among the best seen here this year. They excelled in performance, the two on the crack Shelbyville team. Towards the end of the game Homer Gauker jumped high into the air and received a hard fall, landing on his right arm. He was forced from the game and taken to the Dr. Green hospital. It was feared that the bone had been broken, but the examination revealed a dislocation, and it was reset.

The game at the start was a battle royal between the two teams, and although Rushville had many shots in the first ten minutes, they could not connect, and it required a long time before they found their basket eye. The game as a whole was a good one to witness, and although heavier, Newcastle is anxious to have revenge and they will put up a hard fight when the Lions invade the den of the Trojans on December 27.

At the start of the game the two teams battled back and forth for several minutes without either team scoring, and the first tally was made when Allen dropped one in from near the center for Newcastle. Lakin fouled, and Rozelle, the visiting back guard, who played a whirlwind game, made good the one point. Then McNamara fouled and Edwards for Newcastle was given two chances, and scored one of them, making the score 4 to 0 with the Trojans leading.

Arbuckle fouled next, but Newcastle missed. Then Rozelle fouled Lakin, who was given two chances, and although the Lions had missed many field goals the jinx was still with them, and Lakin missed both foul shots. McNamara on the next foul shot took a long shot and made the goal, giving the Lions 2 and Newcastle 4.

Edwards for Newcastle scored another field goal, making the count 6 to 2, but in short order Newbold fouled the net and when Miller anchored one of his long shots, the score was tied at six points, with Newcastle calling time.

The game had progressed for ten minutes. On the next play McNamara located the basket again, putting Rushville ahead 8 to 6. McNamara then fouled and Gauker scored one point for the Trojans. Starbuck fouled and McNamara was given two chances on the foul, but missed both chances.

Miller fouled, and Edwards was given two chances, making good one of them, and tying the score at 8 points. When Starbuck fouled Newbold, it seemed to be the turning point for the Lions, as he made both shots, putting Rushville out, 10 to 8, and when Newcastle tied the score

At 10, it was the best they could do for the half, while Rushville hit their stride and doubled the count, 20 to 10, when the gun shot for the first half.

Newcastle, like all teams faced this year, were confident of the come back in the last period, but the Lions also have been displaying better ball in the last half, and soon the game began to edge away from the visitors. Newcastle scored first, but when Newbold made a goal with Starbuck hanging on, the goal counted and also the two fouls that he made, putting the score 24 to 12 for the Lions.

As the game went on, it appeared that every time Newcastle would make a field goal, Rushville would come back and either match the goal or make two of them, and they managed to keep in the lead, until the final gun, when the score stood 48 to 31.

Seconds Are Swamped

The Rushville second team tackled a team that proved to be their superior Friday night in the preliminary game, when the Westland first team, walked through the locals for a 30 to 18 victory.

Although the visiting team was larger in size, the locals fought a hard game, and at times made the visiting team go the limit. The first half ended 19 to 9. Westland had good floor work, and were exceptionally good on hitting the basket from under the net.

Intersectional F. B. To Boom

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 29—Intersectional football in 1925 probably will have its biggest and most interesting year. That means that football in general will be in for its greatest season, as it is the intersectional idea that has been responsible for the amazing growth of the game.

Pennsylvania University grabbed off two of the finest attractions that could be presented in the East by scheduling games with Chicago and Illinois, two of the powers of the Western Conference.

Pennsylvania got the games because the athletic directors at Philadelphia were smart enough to get the jump on other big Eastern universities by agreeing to a home and home arrangement.

On a visit to the Middle-West during the past season the writer asked several prominent coaches in the Western Conference why Chicago was the only conference team that seemed willing to book games with big Eastern teams.

FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Bradford Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Phoebe, Virginia.—"Having this opportunity I just cannot refrain from saying a word of praise for the Lydia E. Pinkham medicines. I have used them as occasion required for twenty years, and my three sisters have also used them, and always with the most gratifying results. During the Change of Life I had the usual distressing symptoms—hot flashes, insomnia, etc.—and I am pleased to testify to the wonderful results I obtained from the Vegetable Compound. I heartily recommend it to any woman and I will be pleased to answer any inquiries that might be sent to me through the publication of my testimonial."—Mrs. H. L. BRADFORD, 109 Armistead Street, Phoebe, Virginia.

Consider carefully Mrs. Bradford's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She mentions the trials of middle age and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you are suffering from nervous troubles, irritability, or if other annoying symptoms appear and you are like at times, you should give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For sale by druggists everywhere.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST

FUNERAL MARCH OF A MARIONETTE
By Charles Francois Gounod (1818-1893)

Gounod was born in Paris, June 17, 1818. His grandmother knew music and poetry and was an accomplished actress. His father was a painter and it was thought for some time that he would follow in his footsteps. His mother, who had charm, thrift, culture of a French woman of good birth, taught drawing and music and by this means supported her family after the death of her husband in 1823.

At the age of six Gounod was taken to the opera nearly perishing with excitement. Later he entered the Paris Conservatoire where he studied with the best teachers of the day. Two women influenced his life. One was the great singer Pauline Viardot Garcia, an artist; the other was Madame Garcia who introduced Gounod as an opera composer to the world. It was at this time he turned to religion. The arrival of an ecclesiast who had also been a personal friend of Gounod's in Paris strengthened him in his determination to enter the Church. His most famous production in this line, indeed one of the most popular melodies he composed, is his "Ave Marie". An interesting peculiarity of this work is that only the melody is original with Gounod.

It was while in London that Gounod composed his very popular piece, "Funeral March of a Marionette". It is said that the piece was suggested to him by the English critic Chorley and Gounod's pupils delighted with the burlesque, besought the composer to put it on paper.

Gounod was very popular in London and returned to Paris where he lived with his daughter and son. Gounod lived to see the five-hundredth performance of his master work and to be decorated with the Cross of the Legion of Honor. He died October 18, 1893.

"Funeral March of a Marionette" is essentially a humorous little composition, written for the piano. It pictures the funeral procession of the toy friends of a little marionette, or puppet-doll. No doubt she has come to a sad end through the loss of head, arms, a broken leg, a splintered body, or a sawdust catastrophe. The agitated music at the opening suggests the death of the marionette and it is followed by the murmurs of regret of her little friends. Then comes the stiff-legged, half sad, half comic, march of the funeral procession.

The trio still in march tempo, may be said to picture the not-too-sad some of the interment. This is followed by the original march theme, indicating that the procession is returning from the obsequies.

GINGES SCHOOL

LATIN CLUB

A very interesting program was prepared by Alice Eakin, Clyde Gordon and Donald Rees for the Inter Nos meeting which was held last Thursday night at the home of Robert Meyer. America was sung as the opening song which was followed by the roll call and minutes of the preceding meeting were read. During the business session a program committee was appointed for the next meeting which will be held in two weeks. "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was sung by the male quartet composed of Clyde Gordon, Robert McCulloch, Adrian Echert and Robert Meyer. A talk entitled "Customs of the Roman People" was given by Clara Cortner; piano solo, "To a Wild Rose", by Naomi Nash. During the social hour contests and music were the main features of entertainment and later refreshments were served.

BASKETBALL

Ging had no game last Friday night. We had a game scheduled with Alquina but arrangements were unable to be made concerning the date and place of game to enable us to play. After this, we attempted to get a game with Raleigh as they had none scheduled but we were also unable to make arrangements with them.

THANKSGIVING

As a means of observance for Thanksgiving, the pupils were asked to write statements for which they were thankful. The best of these are included as follows:

We should be thankful because, the end of the chaos and uncertainty in world affairs seems nearer than it has for years. The nations seemingly are getting to understand each other and to be actuated more and more by the spirit of brotherly love.

That nations are approaching the point where they can lend a hand and help a sister nation in distress and disorder rather than viewing her askance and with suspicion.

We have the courage to "carry on"; that when the flesh is weak and the spirit lagging the curtain is drawn aside for just an instant to allow a feeble glimmer of the great radiance within and behind to shine through and spur us onward to give us renewed courage.

God has provided so many things for us and for our care.

Three things are outstanding in one person's life—health, home and friends.

We have an education which teaches us how to live.

Many churches and schools have been instituted for the higher vision and uplift of peoples minds and others are working, helping to make these an evergrowing institution.

We have a government of our own and speak our own American language and not a foreign one.

Thanksgiving, as the name signifies, gives us the opportunity to give Thanksgiving to God.

We have the "second mile" people about us; the people, who, when they have done their allotted portion in this scheme of affairs are willing to lend a hand to some less fortunate neighbor; the fellow who pulls his own load and a little bit more. Where would we be if everyone was content merely to do his bit? Would we get very far under a situation like that?

STECH TO HAVE JURY

The complaint for possession and damages filed in Justice Stech's court by Buford Boone and others against Henry Dungan, was dismissed this morning before it was set for trial. In the case of Grover and Julia Waggoner against John and Hazel Ringenberg, in which a neighborhood dispute ended in filing surety of peace proceedings, the defendants have asked for a jury, and the case will be heard Monday afternoon.

BURNING AUTO IS REMOVED IN TIME

Touring Car Belonging to J. M. Harrold, Blazes up While Left in Newhouse Garage

IS PUSHED OUT INTO ALLEY

Electric Lamp Cord Sets off Pan of Gasoline Threatening Garage—House Damaged Today

A Ford touring car was practically destroyed by fire and the garage owned and operated by Knowlton Newhouse, at the rear of 220 North Perkins street was threatened by fire Friday afternoon shortly before five o'clock, when the machine, owned by Joel M. Harrold caught fire while it was being worked on in the garage.

Mr. Harrold, who lives at 224 North Julian street, is a rural route carrier on route 8, and no insurance was carried on the machine. The engine was not damaged, but the body was destroyed, and he estimated the loss at $150.

The machine was inside of the garage while workmen were making repairs on it, and an open can of gasoline was inside of the car. In dragging an electric lamp cord that contained a light, a short circuit in the cord caused a spark to set the gasoline off, and in an instant the machine was blazing all over. Garagemen used good presence of mind and pushed the flaming machine out into the alley.

The mechanical truck from the fire station responded and put out the blaze, and as the smoke filled the garage it gave the appearance of a fire on the inside, a second alarm was sounded, which brought other fire apparatus to the scene, but they were not needed.

The garage building is a large frame structure and is surrounded by many other barns and buildings, which would have been endangered if the machine had exploded or spread to the building.

This morning the residence occupied by Patrobian Claude Smith, 226 North Julian street, located in the same vicinity of the garage, caught fire from sparks from a chimney, about eleven o'clock and a $25 loss was suffered.

The fire is believed to have caught from sparks falling on the shingles from a neighbor's house, and a large patch of singles was burned off. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals, requiring 50 gallons to put out the blaze.

RADIO FANS HEAR OTHER COUNTRIES

Reception Was Fairly Good Friday Night, First Time Within Several Weeks

NOISE DISAPPEARED FRIDAY

Plans For Locating Electric Interference Will go Forward, as Noise Returned Today

Friday night was the first opportunity this week for Rushville radio fans to tune in on foreign stations, as the air which has been filled with an electrical interference, remained cleared all day and night yesterday. Arrangements had been made by city officials and traction company engineers to conduct an investigation for the trouble last night, but because the interference did not appear, the test was not made.

The noise however had reappeared at noon today and if it continued to night, an effort was to be made by radio fans to have the two companies work on the plan that they had expected to follow last night.

During the period last night between ten and eleven o'clock, set aside for foreign reception, practically every radio outfit in Rushville was in use, and because it was their first opportunity to listen in on the programs, no unusual results were reported. Interference between the numerous receiving sets caused most of the disturbance last night.

Many persons heard foreign stations giving programs but they were unable to learn the locations, because of the foreign language used, and others reported hearing British stations, but the accent on the English language was confusing and hard to understand.

Stanley Williams, living west of Rushville, outside of the bounds of the interference, reported today that he received station 5NO, Newcastle, England and Madrid Spain in excellent form, and that the reception was so strong that the head sets vibrated and were laid on the table and then heard throughout the room. His set consists of four tubes.

Other people in Rushville today reported that some of the west coast stations in the United States did not observe the rule of remaining silent during the hour and such stations as Hollywood, and Los Angeles came in and interfered with the foreign reception.

The broadcasting experiments between the United States and the European continent will be continued tonight and Sunday night, with the stations on this side entertaining the foreign countries between 9 and 10 o'clock and then the foreign countries returning the courtesy with programs.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 29—Ideal atmospheric conditions prevailed Friday night as Indianapolis radio fans again heard European artists in the broadcasting of British and continental radio stations.

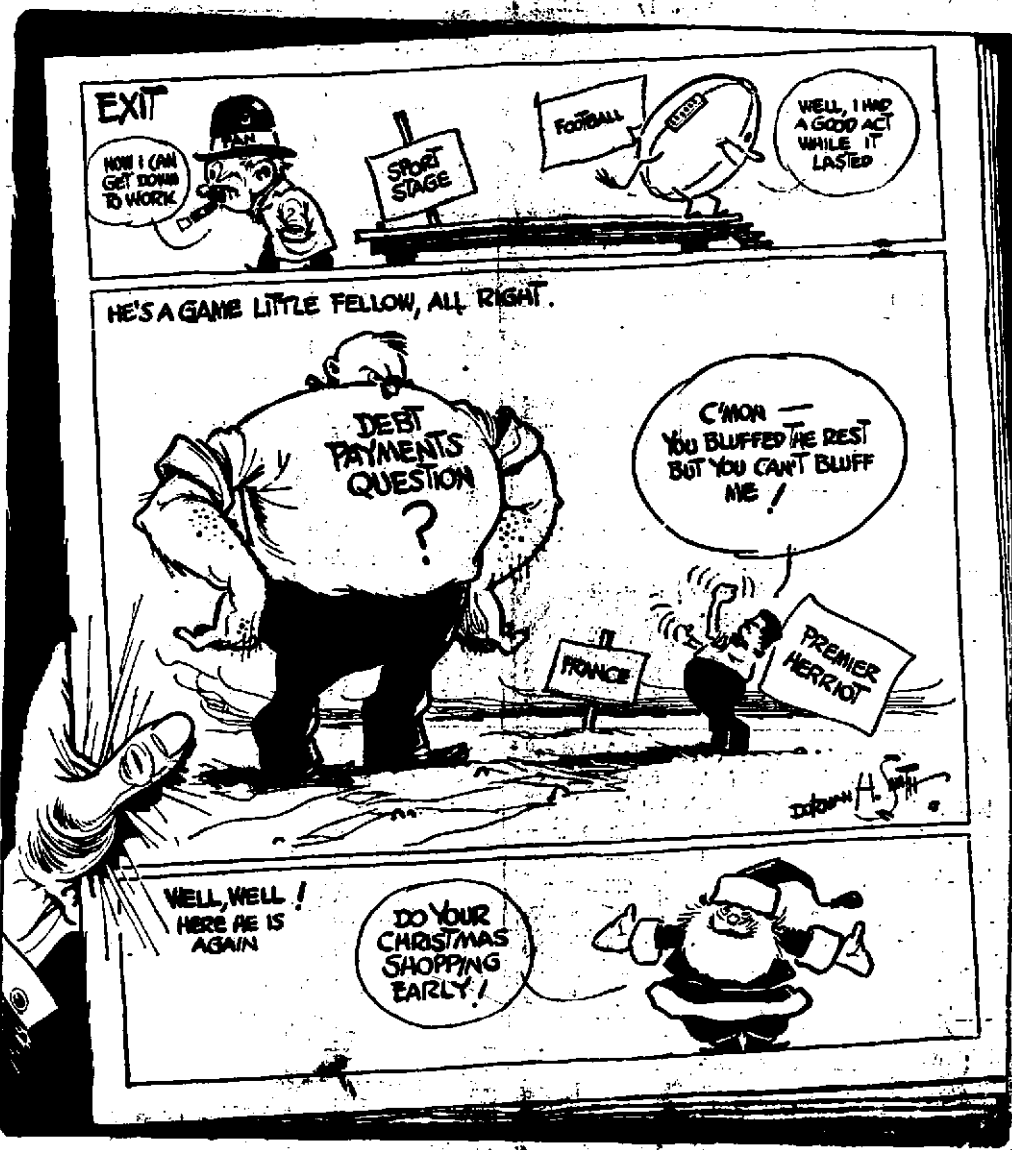

Andrew Allen with a twelve tube set brought in five European stations within the hour allotted to foreign stations.

He heard Brussels, Paris, Edinburgh, Berlin and Birmingham.

FURNACE MYSTERY IS BACK WHERE IT BEGAN

Prosecutor Admits Nothing is Accomplished by Re-Examining Members of Sheatsley Family

LAST CHAPTER IS WRITTEN

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 29—Having run its course, the Sheatsley furnace mystery today returned to the point where it began.

Authorities have exhausted every possible clue and theory and today find themselves no nearer a solution than a week ago last Monday night when Mrs. Addie Sheatsley's partly cremated remains were taken from the Lutheran parsonage furnace.

Barring unforeseen developments, the last chapter in the weird case which for nearly two weeks has held the interest and the imagination of the whole country, was written late last night when John R. King, county prosecutor finished questioning members of the Sheatsley family.

The husband and the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley and his two sons, Milton, 20, and Clarence 16, were kept at the court house until a late hour while the prosecutor, his assistant, a detective and Dr. R. C. Tarbell, alienist examined them one at a time. The result was that the pastor and his two sons told the same story they had told so often before.

"The quizz was profitless," King said today. "It got us nowhere."

WILL CALL FIRST WITNESS MONDAY

Government to Begin Presenting Evidence in Veteran's Bureau Scandal, with Statements Concluded

DEFENSE OUTLINES CASE

Attorneys for Forbes and Thompson Jointly Accused, Will Show Clients Innocent Victims

(By United Press)

Chicago, Nov. 29—First government witnesses against Col. Charles R. Forbes, former Veterans' Bureau chief, and John W. Thompson, millionaire contractor of St. Louis, jointly indicted in charges of defrauding the government in the construction of Veterans' Hospitals will be called in federal court here Monday.

Opening statements of counsel were completed late yesterday and Judge George A. Carpenter continued court until next week.

James S. Easby-Smith, and Robert Loughlin, attorneys for Forbes and Thompson, told the jury they would prove during the course of the trial that their clients were innocent victims of the vengeful mind and heart of Elias H. Mortimer, a former government agent. Mortimer is to be a government witness against the defendants.

Mortimer, according to the defense attorneys, "misrepresented" affairs to Thompson, promising him huge profits through government contracts—and Thompson, "a simple soul," believed him.

Loughlin was interrupted in his statement by the court on the ground he was "going far afield" for an opening statement, but the St. Louis attorney replied he intended to prove every statement he was making.

The government case against Forbes and Thompson, consisting of charges that Forbes "sold" hospital contracts to Thompson, is a "pure fabrication," Loughlin declared. Mortimer, he said, was disappointed because Forbes did not make him a rich man and turned against his former friend, plotting to destroy him.

Another motive, Loughlin said, was Mortimer's belief that Forbes had alienated the affections of his wife, Katherine Tullidge of Philadelphia.

SEALS CAMPAIGN IS USHERED IN

Township Workers, Psi Iota Xi Committee and Woman's Council Meet At Luncheon

DR. AMOS CARTER SPEAKS

Head of Indiana Tuberculosis Sanatorium Tells Story of Development of Institution

Ushering in the 1924 Christmas tuberculosis workers, members of the Seals campaign, township Seals and Psi Iota Xi sorority, in charge of the campaign, and the Rushville Woman's Council, who are sponsoring the campaign, met at luncheon today at the Social club and heard an address by Dr. Amos Carter, head of the Indiana Tuberculosis sanatorium near Rockville.

Other short talks were made by Mrs. Fred Arbuckle, city chairman; Mrs. Birney D. Spradling of Indianapolis, daughter of Dr. Carter and a Seal worker, in Marion county, and representatives of the press and local civic clubs.

E. B. Thomas of San Juan, Porto Rico, and formerly of Rushville, was expected to speak, but was unable to be present.

All but three of the townships in the county were represented by one or more women workers, and the sorority committees who will have charge of the sale in the city, were present.

Mrs. T. M. Green, president of the Woman's Council, opened the program with a short talk introducing Mrs. L. M. Sexton, chairman of the program committee, who presided. Other members of the program committee were Miss Anna Bohannon and Mrs. Ed Spradling.

Mrs. Green said that as the Council began its third annual campaign for the sale of Seals, she felt assurance that it would be successful because of the cooperation of all the agencies that are interested in the work.

Mrs. Sexton expressed a similar sentiment when she took charge of the program and praised the members of the sorority and the township workers for the part they had played in the past and for the promise of their active support this year.

Mrs. Birney Spradling said that she wished Rush county might win the pennant, which Grant and Johnson counties have a way of exchanging back and forth year after year. Mrs. Spradling, who is a member of the publicity committee in Indianapolis and speaks before clubs seeking their support for the work, explained the way the campaign is conducted in that county.

Dr. Carter explained that the sanatorium now has accommodations for eighty patients, but that by "doubling up" 90 to 95 can be accommodated. From 68 to 75 counties are represented in the sanatorium all of the time, he said.

There are four other sanatoria in Indiana, Dr. Carter stated, the five having a bed capacity of about 675 patients. The real bed capacity of the state, he declared, should be one bed for each death from tuberculosis and last year the deaths numbered 2700.

The sanatorium, Dr. Carter recalled, was first governed by a partisan board, but in 1919 the board was made bi-partisan. It was at first nothing more than an infirmary, the speaker said, but it had been converted into a sanatorium in which cases were being arrested. Dr. Carter has been at the institution six years, and his first year there were 50 deaths among patients. The following year there were 3, the next year 5, the next year 3, and the last year 5.

Dr. Carter also explained the acquisition of the children's building accommodating 80 children from 16 years of age down. The children's turnover during the past 11 months, he said, had been 76. Dr. Carter told how school facilities for children had been added under great handicaps.

Mrs. Rena Warner asked the blessing before the luncheon was served, and after the meal Mrs. Alfred Norris sang, with piano accompaniment by Miss Brenda Kinsinger. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Norris sang another selection and was enthusiastically applauded.

A Much Needed Prayer:

Uncle Sam, Movie Magnate

Some of the leading moving picture stars and producers content themselves with putting out one big picture a year. Uncle Sam, who has become a real movie magnate, is turning out his pictures at the rate of one every other week. He hires fairly good actors and takes his pick of the country's loveliest scenery. Then he shoots, and the resulting films are said to thrill millions of observers every day.

The pictures range from one-reel fillers to seven-reel thrillers. The titles are as varied as the pictures, including such interesting ones as "Out of the Shadows," "Behind the Breakfast Plate," "Red Enemy," "Garden Gold," "The Modern Pied Piper" and "Ann's Egrette." People, animals, mountains, and even tiny insects take part in these photographs.

The pictures are instructive as well as beautiful and interesting. Lieut. Lowell Smith who commanded the American round-the-world flight, is the star in "Red Enemy" in which he appears as leader of an airplane squadron on forest patrol duty. They find a forest fire and discover that a camping party is trapped in the burning area. Thrilling fire-fighting follows, and the rescue of the threatened people makes the happy ending.

By watching for Uncle Sam's movies the citizen can learn in a comfortable way a good deal about many interesting things. He will enjoy much sheer entertainment. This is proved by the fact that the demand for such pictures is already greater than the supply. Theaters, schools, colleges, churches and all sorts of community organizations apply for them. There is now a government moving picture office and studio in Washington, equipped with the very finest machinery for the work.

War Debt Refunding

The report that negotiations have started for the refunding of the French war debt to the United States calls attention to the fact that agreements have been entered into with four nations for the refunding of debts created during the war. Poland was the fourth nation to agree to repay this country, the sum involved amounting to about $179,000,000. Negotiations were conducted by the foreign debt refunding commission.

Congress must ratify the agreement before it becomes effective, but the approval of that body will be forthcoming, it is assured.

Steps are being taken to bring about a similar arrangement with other nations financed by the United States during the war, and although it has seemed a tedious process, the business-like way in which the debt collection has been undertaken is now beginning to bring results.

With splendid prospects of Eur-

one's stability being restored through the Dawes plan, the next few years will undoubtedly see settlements with practically all of the debtor nations and the money of American taxpayers being returned to them in regular installments.

The officials of the Fairview Christian church have engaged the Rev. W. E. Shultz of Newcastle to preach at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. George Aultman have been noticing a very peculiar odor around their house, but could not locate the source of it. They finally came to the conclusion that the smell was caused by a dead animal some place in the vicinity of their residence and they set about to find the difficulty. Mr. Aultman had a happy idea and he went under the house to see if he could find the trouble. The farther he crawled the more certain he was that he was getting warm. The odor became stronger and he finally in all his crawlings came upon an old well which had never been covered over. In there was a dead hog which had evidently been in there several days.

Now that the football season is over the athletes in the high school will turn their attention to basketball. Among the players who will try for the five are Earl Heeb, Lowell Norris, Carl Gunning, Don McRoberts, Tom Hiner, Raymond Wilcox, Howard Eubank and Harry Petry. Prof. W. A. Stockinger is manager of the team.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ewing and family and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Kizer and family were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Kizer Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Demmer will be given a surprise this evening at their home, northwest of the city, by their neighbors in honor of their twenty-second wedding anniversary. One of the special features will be an elaborate supper, prepared and served by the guests.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTERBY HARRY E. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The only way to make prohibition prohibit, Congress will be told when it meets to consider appropriations for the next fiscal year, will be to dig a lot deeper into the national pocketbook.

Even here in the capital it must be admitted intoxicants are more readily obtainable than two or three years ago, and the quality is much more dependable.

Producers of "moonshine" are no longer amateurs. The product they turn out today, in large part, lacks only proper aging to make it compare favorably with many of the cheaper brands of pre-prohibition liquor.

A large distilling layout, located directly across the street from the House office building, where congressmen have their offices, was raided a few days after election.

It was equipped to turn out a product which even congressional palates might have pronounced good, had not its presence been disclosed by sheer accident.

IN addition to added appropriations to finance the fermenting out of internally manufactured illicit beverages, a more extensive and expensive guard will have to be maintained against smuggled liquors before prohibition will prohibit.

Just what the coast guard and revenue cutter services are up against in trying to outwit the well-financed, carefully organized smuggling rings will be told House and Senate appropriations committees by Rear Admiral Fred C. Billard and his aid, Lieut. Com. Stephen Yeandle.

In order to get his facts straight, Yeandle recently went abroad in the guise of a man eager to learn the rum-running business, to lay a "beat" and get in on the "easy spolia."

He visited lonely points along the coast where bootleggers have set up warehouses and established underground transportation and communication systems more weird and devious than anything ever thought of in the old days of slavery's "underground railroad."

He will have some real thrillers to recount that may stir Congress to recognition of the fact that the men it employs to enforce prohibition are pitted against a band of buccaners as determined and resourceful as any of the band that sailed with Captain Kidd in the old days when piracy was the easy road to adventure and easy money.

PEPPER "COLE" BLEASE of South Carolina, elected to the United States Senate, has served notice on his constituents that, as a senator, he is too busy to know of the Coleman Livingston Blease, no less.

Down in Carolina, where "Cole" has been a hot coal in politics for the past decade, they have of late given him the diminutive title of "Cole." Of course it has been meant as a term of endearment. But as a senator, Coleman doesn't want endearments. He wants dignity. "Cole" was bad enough, but "Cole"—that couldn't possibly be endured. It gave him a pain. Too much like "cole," perhaps.

Anyway, hereafter, remember, it is not "Cole" Blease, nor "Cole" Blease, but the Honorable Coleman Livingston Blease, United States senator!

QUIETLY, but inexorably, General John J. Pershing, retired, commander-in-chief of the A. E. F. and general of all the American armies, is being fitted into a niche as the official representative of the United States at all formal celebrations by other nations.

Pershing sailed the other day as "special ambassador" of the United States, to attend Peru's celebration of the battle of Ayacucho, from which the South American republic dates her independence.

Editor Republican—

Dear Sir: You certainly have hit the boneyard of memory in your new stunt. It awakens slumbering recollections and can not but prove highly interesting to young and old. Looking back over a space of sixty years, it awakens incidents, and brings to my memory people I have not thought of for years.

I have ventured to take advantage of your kind invitation to contribute a few although I could write columns of old recollections.

Respectfully,

LIONS HITTING ON ALL 5 CYLINDERS

After Pulling Out Ahead, Rushville Shows Stuff it Takes to Beat Newcastle and Wins

TROJANS GAME TO THE LAST

Put up Scrappy Game, But Lions Defense is too Strong for Them—Local Combination Works Good

The Rushville Lions, hitting on all cylinders, downed the Newcastle Trojans in the basketball game here Friday night, by the score of 48 to 31, holding a 20 to 10 lead at the end of the first half, and after they pulled out ahead, the visiting team was unable to hold them in check.

The Trojans displayed a fast brand of ball and were dangerous around the basket, but the Rushville team had their right defense working and it was hard for them to penetrate, until toward the end of the game, when the locals directed their attention more to the offense.

Newcastle had an abundance of material on hand and made several substitutions and the new players also went big for them. Rushville did not substitute until the close of the game, when victory was sure.

The combination of Newbold and Arbuckle at forward, Lakin at center, McNamara and Miller at guards is working better in every game. Especially commendable is the showing that is being made by Newbold, Lakin and Miller. Arbuckle is showing up well as a running mate for Newbold, but being now on the varsity this year, he has not had the experience. He always manages to find the basket, and is as fast as the ball. McNamara at floor guard usually sinks the ball when a goal is needed, and there is not a better free guard in this part of the state.

Edwards and Ganker, the two forwards on the Newcastle team, were among the best seen here this year. They excelled in performance the two on the crack Shelbyville team. Towards the end of the game Homer Ganker jumped high into the air and received a hard fall, landing on his right arm. He was forced from the game and taken to the Dr. Green hospital. It was feared that the bone had been broken, but the examination revealed a dislocation, and it was reset.

The game at the start was a battle royal between the two teams, and although Rushville had many shots in the first ten minutes, they could not connect, and it required a long time before they found their basket eye. The game as a whole was a good one to witness, and although heavier, Newcastle is anxious to have revenge and they will put up a hard fight when the Lions invade the den of the Trojans on December 27.

At the start of the game the two teams battled back and forth for several minutes without either team scoring, and the first tally was made when Allen dropped one in from near the center for Newcastle. Lakin fouled, and Rozelle, the visiting back guard, who played a whirlwind game, made good the one point. Then McNamara fouled and Edwards for Newcastle was given two chances, and scored one of them, making the score 4 to 0 with the Trojans leading.

Arbuckle fouled next, but Newcastle missed. Then Rozelle fouled Lakin, who was given two chances, and although the Lions had missed many field goals the jinx was still with them, and Lakin missed both foul shots. McNamara on the next toss up took a long shot and made the goal, giving the Lions 2 and Newcastle 4.

Edwards for Newcastle scored another field goal, making the count 6 to 2, but in short order Newbold fouled the net and when Miller anchored one of his long shots, the score was tied at six points, with Newcastle calling time.

The game had progressed for ten minutes. On the next play McNamara located the basket again, putting Rushville ahead 8 to 6. McNamara then fouled and Ganker scored one point for the Trojans. Starbuck fouled and McNamara was given two chances on the foul, but missed both chances.

Miller fouled, and Edwards was given two chances, making good one of them, and tying the score at 8 points. When Starbuck fouled Newbold, it seemed to be the turning point for the Lions, as he made both shots, putting Rushville out, 10 to 8, and when Newcastle tied the score at 10, it was the best they could do for the half, while Rushville hit their stride and doubled the count, 20 to 10, when the gun shot for the first half.

Newcastle, like all teams faced this year, were confident of the come back in the last period, but the Lions also have been displaying better ball in the last half, and soon the game began to edge away from the visitors. Newcastle scored first, but when Newbold made a goal with Starbuck hanging on, the goal counted and also the two fouls that he made, putting the score 24 to 12 for the Lions.

As the game went on, it appeared that every time Newcastle would make a field goal, Rushville would come back and either match the goal or make two of them, and they managed to keep in the lead, until the final gun, when the score stood 48 to 31.

The line-up and summary: Rushville 48. Newcastle 31. Newbold -----F----- Edwards. Arbuckle -----F----- Ganker. Lakin -----C----- Allen. McNamara -----G----- Starbuck. Miller -----G----- Rozelle. Seconds Are Swamped

The Rushville second team tackled a team that proved to be their superior Friday night in the preliminary game, when the Westland first team, walked through the locals for a 30 to 18 victory.

Although the visiting team was larger in size, the locals fought a hard game, and at times made the visiting team go the limit. The first half ended 19 to 9. Westland had good floor work, and were exceptionally good on hitting the basket from under the net.

The line-up and summary: Westland 30. Rushville 18. White -----F----- W. Newbold. Jessup -----F----- R. Winkler. Hardin -----C----- Cartmel. Addison -----G----- L. Winkler. Cook -----G----- Cortner. Manilla Unable to Overcome Sport at Opening of Game Which Put Them 10 Points Behind

ARLINGTON GUARDS WERE OUT

Coach Jimmie Hyatt's scrapin' Arlington team won great honors Friday night on their home floor, when they trounced their old time rivals of Manilla by the count of 32 to 27, in a game that was featured by the fast, snappy playing of each squad.

The Arlington team was well balanced, although their two regular guards were out of the game, and for Manilla Hester and Miller played best. The Arlington team sprung their surprise attack in the start of the game, and led 21 to 11 at the half, and the Manilla team could not overcome the score in the last half. The line-up and score:

Intersectional F. B. To Be Open

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 29—Intersectional football in 1925 probably will have its biggest and most interesting year. That means that football in general will be in for its greatest season, as it is the intersectional idea that has been responsible for the amazing growth of the game.

Pennsylvania University grabbed off two of the finest attractions that could be presented in the East by scheduling games with Chicago and Illinois, two of the powers of the Western Conference.

Pennsylvania got the games because the athletic directors at Philadelphia were smart enough to get the jump on other big Eastern universities by agreeing to a home and home arrangement.

On a visit to the Middle-West during the past season the writer asked several prominent coaches in the Western Conference why Chicago was the only conference team that seemed willing to book games with big Eastern teams.

TIRE FACTS

Don't pay a lot of money for a tire and think you are getting an extra good tire because of the high price. A high priced tire is the result of small quantity production. Goodyear's enormous production enables them to build a tire of unquestionable quality at a price that is surprising. We know that Goodyear is second to none in miles of trouble proof service and we delight in proving it to the man that uses tires.

FUNERAL MARCH OF A MARIONETTE

By Charles Francois Gounod (1818-1893)

Gounod was born in Paris, June 17, 1818. His grandmother knew music and poetry and was an accomplished actress. His father was a painter and it was thought for some time that he would follow in his footsteps. His mother, who had charm, thrift, culture of a French woman of good birth, taught drawing and music and by this means supported her family after the death of her husband in 1823.

At the age of six Gounod was taken to the opera nearly perishing with excitement. Later he entered the Paris Conservatoire where he studied with the best teachers of the day. Two women influenced his life. One was the great singer Pauline Viardot Garcia, an artist; the other was Madame Garcia who introduced Gounod as an opera composer to the world. It was at this time he turned to religion. The arrival of an ecclesiastical who had also been a personal friend of Gounod's in Paris strengthened him in his determination to enter the Church. His most famous production in this line, indeed one of the most popular melodies he composed, is his "Ave Marie." An interesting peculiarity of this work is that only the melody is original with Gounod.

It was while in London that Gounod composed his very popular piece, "Funeral March of a Marionette." It is said that the piece was suggested to him by the English critic Chorley and Gounod's pupils delighted with the burlesque, besought the composer to put it on paper. Gounod was very popular in London and returned to Paris where he lived with his daughter and son. Gounod lived to see the five-hundredth performance of his master work and to be decorated with the Cross of the Legion of Honor. He died October 18, 1893.

"Funeral March of a Marionette" is essentially a humorous little composition, written for the piano. It pictures the funeral procession of the toy friends of a little marionette, or puppet-doll. No doubt she has come to a sad end through the loss of head, arms, a broken leg, a splintered body, or a sadwast catastrophe. The agitated music at the opening suggests the death of the marionette and it is followed by the murmurs of regret of her little friends. Then comes the stiff-legged, half sad, half comic, march of the funeral procession.

The trio still in march tempo, may be said to picture the not-too-sad scene of the interment. This is followed by the original march theme, indicating that the procession is returning from the obsequies.

GINGS SCHOOL

LATIN CLUB

A very interesting program was prepared by Alice Eakin, Clyde Gordon and Donald Rees for the Inter Nos meeting which was held last Thursday night at the home of Robert Meyer. America was sung as the opening song which was followed by the roll call and minutes of the preceding meeting were read. During the business session a program committee was appointed for the next meeting which will be held in two weeks. "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was sung by the male quartet composed of Clyde Gordon, Robert McCulloch, Adrian Echart and Robert Meyer. A talk entitled "Customs of the Roman People" was given by Clara Cortner; piano solo, "To a Wild Rose", by Naomi Nash. During the social hour contests and music were the main features of entertainment and later refreshments were served.

Eight members of the Plum Creek Hi-Y drove through to Bloomington Friday morning, accompanied by their club leader, Mr. Sipe, to attend the State Older Boy's conference held in that city Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The conference is held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. for boys of high school age. It is a nation wide movement with meetings in several states occurring simultaneously. Two conferences are on in Indiana during the week-end, one at Peru and one at Bloomington.

Those making the trip are Clyde Gordon, president; Robert McCulloch, vice president; Theodore Custer, secretary; Joseph Custer, treasurer; Mr. Sipe, sponsor; and Adrian Echart, Robert Meyer, Carroll Rees and Earl Whitton.

BASKETBALL
Ging had no game last Friday night. We had a game scheduled with Alquina but arrangements were unable to be made concerning the date and place of game to enable us to play. After this, we attempted to get a game with Raleigh as they had none scheduled but we were also unable to make arrangements with them.

THANKSGIVING
As a means of observance for Thanksgiving, the pupils were asked to write statements for which they were thankful. The best of these are included as follows:

We should be thankful because, the end of the chaos and uncertainty in world affairs seems nearer than it has for years. The nations seemingly are getting to understand each other and to be actuated more and more by the spirit of brotherly love.

That nations are approaching the point where they can lend a hand and help a sister nation in distress and disorder rather than viewing her askance and with suspicion.

We have the courage to "carry on"; that when the flesh is weak and the spirit lagging the curtain is drawn aside for just an instant to allow a feeble glimmer of the great radiance within and behind to shine through and spur us onward to give us renewed courage.

God has provided so many things for us and for our care.

Three things are outstanding in one person's life—health, home and friends.

We have an education which teaches us how to live.

Many churches and schools have been instituted for the higher vision and uplift of peoples minds and others are working, helping to make these an evergrowing institution.

We have a government of our own and speak our own American language and not a foreign one.

Thanksgiving, as the name signifies, gives us the opportunity to give Thanksgiving to God.

We have the "second mile" people about us; the people, who, when they have done their allotted portion in this scheme of affairs are willing to lend a hand to some less fortunate neighbor; the fellow who pulls his own load and a little bit more. Where would we be if everyone was content merely to do his bit? Would we get very far under a situation like that?

STECH TO HAVE JURY

The complaint for possession and damages filed in Justice Stech's court by Buford Boone and others against Henry Dunigan, was dismissed this morning before it was set for trial. In the case of Grover and Julia Waggoner against John and Hazel Ringenberg, in which a neighborhood dispute ended in filing surety of peace proceedings, the defendants have asked for a jury, and the case will be heard Monday afternoon.

FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Bradford Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Phoebe, Virginia.—"Having this opportunity I just cannot refrain from saying a word of praise for the Lydia E. Pinkham medicine."

I have used them on occasion required for twenty years, and my throes have also used them, and always with the most gratifying results. During the Change of Life I had the usual distressing symptoms—hot flashes, insomnia, etc.—and I am pleased to testify to the wonderful results I obtained from the Vegetable Compound. I heartily recommend it to any woman and I will be pleased to answer any inquiries that might be sent to me through the publication of my testimonial.

"—Mrs. H. L. BRADFORD, 109 Armistead Street, Phoebe, Virginia. Consider carefully Mrs. Bradford's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She mentions the trials of middle age and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

If you are suffering from nervous troubles, irritability, or if other annoying symptoms appear and you are blue at times, you should give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For sale by druggists everywhere.

3 NEW OFFICIALS
TAKE OFFICE TODAY

Indiana State Normal School at Muncie, Sherwood was elected to succeed Burris and also appointed to fill the unexpired portion of the term.

Only two appointments have been announced by Sherwood. They are Raymond E. Blackwell, of Lebanon as deputy superintendent and George A. Spencer, superintendent of the Tipton county schools, as assistant superintendent.

Burris had no assistant. He was assistant superintendent under L. W. Hines present head of the Indiana Normal at Terre Haute, and former superintendent of public instruction. When Hines resigned to head the school Burris left the office of assistant vacant.

No successor has been appointed to succeed John J. Brown as chairman of the state tax board, whose term as a member of the board also expired today. Despite this fact Brown will remain in office until a successor is appointed and qualifies.

Attends Inauguration

Will O. Feulner of this city, secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial association, went to Indianapolis today, where he attended the inaugural ceremonies for three of the newly elected state officers, including Fred Schortemeier, who became secretary of state today. Mr. Feulner also will attend a meeting of the committees in outlining the winter program for the editorial association gathering.

CONGRESS OPENS

pression that a new regime is shortly coming into power was obvious. In the senate William M. Butler, who led the political campaign of President Coolidge to victory, sat in the place formerly occupied by the distinguished figure of Henry Cabot Lodge. Nearby were the familiar faces of Senator James Wadsworth of New York, who may ascend to Lodge's leadership of the republican majority, and Senator William E. Borah, the silver-tongued statesman who is to sit in Lodge's chair at the head of the important foreign relations committee.

In the third row on the Republican side was the vacant chair of Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, whose suicide during the recess astounded and horrified his friends. The chair is to be filled by a special election within two weeks.

Down front among the Republicans sat Senator Robert M. LaFollette, the man who led a presidential movement against the two old major parties and polled nearly 5,000,000 votes. Some of his friends were there—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, the young Democratic attorney who ran as vice-president with LaFollette; Senator Smith W. Brookhart, who succeeded in re-electing himself in Iowa by the slenderest of majorities; and Senator Magnus Johnson, the dirt farmer from Minnesota, who went down in defeat.

Each of them sat apart. They were not ostracized in the general handshaking that went the rounds. But none of them were called out into the cloak-room for the little conferences which were held among the leaders.

Two more new faces appeared, those of Rice W. Means, of Colorado, and Jess H. Metcalf of Rhode Island. Metcalf came to fill the vacancy caused by death of Senator Le Baron Colt and Means was elected to fill out the short term of Senator Alva Adams, whose appointment was temporary.

The scene in the House was not much changed. Only two deaths occurred there among the 435 members during the recess. Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, who is to go over to the senate in March to take the seat of Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts, whom he defeated, called the gathering to order.

Only the usual formalities were scheduled for the opening day. Later there will be party caucuses to get the party organizations started again and map the program of the session.

Consideration of Muscle Shoals legislation is first on order of business in the Senate, by agreement reached before adjournment last June. Appropriation bills to be taken up immediately by the House.

House committee chairmen already have begun work on the first appropriation bills to be considered. That is the first order of business in the house. The senate must mark time with other matters until the appropriation bills come over. All appropriation measures must originate in the House.

Other matters which may come up sometime during the session if both houses do not become swamped with the appropriation bills which have the right of way, include:

THE WORLD COURT proposal which has been held in the senate since relations committee for two years. Several new projects for American participation of the International court of Justice at the Hague have been prepared for introduction.

The proposal for reduction of freight rates, which may be undertaken by the Senate interstate commerce committee of which Senator Ellison D. Smith, a Democrat, is chairman. Resolutions authorizing the interstate commerce commission to take the proper steps for such a reduction on an equitable basis, have been prepared for introduction and will be considered.

Several proposals for farm relief, including a modified version of the McNary-Haugen bill, which failed of passage in the same congress at the last session. These proposals are to be studied at once by the agricultural committees of both Houses, with prospects remote for their final enactment.

The postal salaries increase bill which was vetoed by the president in the closing days of the last session is to come up for re-adoption with some modifications which may meet the objections of the chief executive.

These matters, however, have been somewhat shunted into the background by the necessity for speed in the appropriation measures. A contest is certain to develop over some of the bills—especially the Naval appropriations measure. But it appears there will be breaking of bones and little nashing of teeth. However, in the words of old Jim Preston, who has seen a score of congresses come and go as he sat ruler of the newspaper men in the senate gallery:

"You can never tell what a congress is going to do."

IMPORTANT MEETING

Every member of Franklin Lodge, No. 35, is urged to attend the meeting next Wednesday evening at which time an important amendment will be considered.

Blountsville—Blountsville is to operate its own electric plant for light and power. At a special election it was decided that the present privately owned plant should be done away with by a vote of 67 to 0.

POSTOFFICE LOOTED, LOSS PLACE AT $300

Robbers Break Into Princeton Office During Night and Escape With Stamps and Money

FAIL ON THE LARGER SAFE

Princeton, Ind., Dec. 1.—Robbers broke into the postoffice here during the night and escaped with $300 in stamps and money.

The bandits used an acetylene torch to open a small safe from which they obtained the loot. They attempted to break open a large safe but used up the gas for their torch before they had burned through the door.

Police at headquarters directly across the street from the postoffice were unaware of the robbery until this morning.

No trace has been found of the bandits and it is not known how many participated in the robbery.

PIONEER DIES

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 1.—Mrs. Mary Finch, 86, is dead at her home near here today, her death cutting another link connecting the present with the pioneer days of the county in which she always lived. Her father, Samuel Rup, who came here in 1829, was a circuit rider and organized many churches in this vicinity.

ALL WORN OUT?

So Was Mrs. Sutton Who Tells Her Experience

Are you tired all the time; worn-out night and day? Does your back ache as if it would break? Do you suffer dizziness, headaches, rheumatic twinges or distressing urinary disorders? You have good cause, then, to be alarmed about your kidneys. Do as many of your townfolk recommend. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. This Rushville case is convincing:

Mrs. Wm. Sutton, 613 W. Third St., says: "Backache wore me out. Severe attacks of headaches came often and I also became dizzy and spots before my eyes blurred my sight. My kidneys didn't act often enough, so I used Doan's Pills from Pitman & Wilson's Drug Store, and they cured me of kidney trouble."

Presbyterian Men Going to Newcastle for Dinner Conference

Several Rushville men from the First Presbyterian church will motor to Newcastle this evening for a dinner conference of Presbyterian men at the Friends church, which will be addressed by Dr. William Weir, general director of men's work of the church.

Laymen from all over this section of the state are expected to be present.

Dr. Weir took up his work with the church ten years ago and has spent much of his time traveling over the country awakening the men of the Presbyterian church to their responsibilities to the church. Dr. Weir is a forceful speaker and is in so great demand that the local church feels fortunate in securing him.

FIRST SEALS SALE AMOUNTS TO $115

Active solicitation was under way today to sell health bonds to business men, manufacturing plants, fraternal and civic organizations and Sunday schools and churches.

Those who do not care to invest in health bonds will be given an opportunity to buy Christmas seals, the little messengers of gladness that may be used on Christmas mail. Seals will be placed on sale in the postoffice and elsewhere in the city for the convenience of those who wish to buy them and help in movement that is gradually driving tuberculosis out of the state.

A large percent of the money raised through the sale of Seals and health bonds remains in Rush county to be used in the local campaign. It finances the tuberculosis clinics that are held at different periods of the year, when persons may go for free physical examination. By means of the clinics many cases of incipient tuberculosis have been discovered and arrested, and the patient restored to good health.

A Mighty Arm—Thou hast a mighty arm; strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand. Justice and judgment are the habitation of Thy throne; mercy and truth shall go before Thy face. Psalm 89: 13, 14.

Still Land of Opportunity

Radicals and demagogues, to get a hearing, frequently blame the capitalists system with favoring the rich and powerful as against the poor and unfortunate. But examples can be found every day which prove that America is still the land of opportunity and that men with a purpose in life can accomplish something.

Fifty-three years ago an Irish lad of nine came to the United States with his parents. He went to the public schools and started work as an office boy. He is now president of the American Bankers' Association, the world's largest financial organization. He is also president of one of the largest savings banks in this country.

Twelve years ago a Philadelphia junkman was barely eking out an existence with a boney horse and rickety wagon. His business presented an opportunity which less ingenious men did not see—the salvaging of automobiles. He didn't linger long in the junk business. He visualized the possibilities in the field of used parts and instead of attempting to repair a wrecked car or put a second-hand car in condition for resale, he salvaged the parts.

Today his business is that of supplying automobile parts, of which he is said to have one million varieties. He takes pride in the fact that he can supply parts for virtually every car made since 1912. His orders come from all parts of the United States—some for a single part and others by truck loads.

In addition to becoming immensely wealthy, he has performed a useful service by salvaging waste material that would never have been restored to usefulness.

There are but two striking examples of the democracy of opportunity in America, and when someone tells you that opportunities come only to those who have accumulated money, just be reminded that resourcefulness and a willingness to work brings rewards regardless of your station in life or financial condition.

Burden on the State

The burden of education rests on the state. Appropriations for state aid to weak districts are a part of the fulfillment of the obligation to maintain a system of public schools placed upon the State by its constitution. District tax levies are somewhat in the nature of aid to the State. The limit of district school tax having been reached, the state must "carry on" to the point where a school system of some degree of uniformity and equality of opportunity is maintained.

These are the main points of a remarkable decision rendered by the supreme court of Oklahoma on September 9. It was brought about by an attempt to invalidate an appropriation of $650,000 made by the legislature last spring to aid weak districts to hold an 8-month term. Depending on the good faith of the state, about 5,200 teachers stayed at their work, lengthened the terms in 1,065 schools, and helped about 176,800 children. The greater part of this good was done in rural districts where the small weak schools are.

This is the school policy that is followed in Indiana, though there is occasionally some complaint against it.

The decision greatly strengthens the position of rural education in Oklahoma. It says among other things:

"Without affirmative aid by the legislature the constitutional mandate for an efficient free-school system will be unexecuted in those weak school districts."

"The sovereign State and we as citizens are as much interested in the education of a youth in a remote part of our State as of one who lives in our capital city, because this interest is based upon the child's relation to society generally, of which we form a part."

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

WASHINGTON—When Congress passed the law putting regulation of meat packers and stockyards in the hands of the Department of Agriculture, back in 1921, it set in motion the wheels that put Howard M. Gore, farmer and stockman of Clarkburg, W. Va., into President Coolidge's cabinet.

For Gore came to Washington as a member of the packer and stockyard administration.

In that job he demonstrated such thoroughgoing familiarity with farm problems and such ability as an administrator and arbitrator that when C. W. Pugsley resigned as assistant secretary in September, 1923, President Coolidge stepped him up into that post as assistant to Secretary Wallace.

His record as assistant secretary was such that Coolidge now names him as head of the department, following Wallace's death.

It is not unlikely that Gore would have served in the Coolidge cabinet through the next four years, had he not been elected to the governorship of West Virginia, beginning next March. His term in the cabinet is, because of this, limited to a little over three months.

Like Coolidge when he came to the presidency, Gore is not an "organization" man. When he announced his candidacy for the governorship he wasn't any more on the inside with the G. O. P. powers in his state than Coolidge was nationally with President Harding's death step him into the White House. Perhaps that fact has created a bond between them.

But just as Coolidge, as president, was able to take over control of the G. O. P. machinery, nationally, and revamp it to suit his own ideas, so may Gore, as governor, overhaul the Republican machine in his home state.

As an outsider in his race for the Republican nomination for governor, Gore was nicknamed "The Lone Wolf." Old-timers smiled a bit at his presumption in backing the organization choice for the office.

But as a farmer in West Virginia, though Gore never had laid any political fences, he had built a hog-tight corral into which to round up a personal following of West Virginia farm folks, old and young.

He had for years been a booster for and worker in the boys' and girls' farm clubs.

He was an expert judge of live stock, and at county and state fairs and handed out red, white and blue ribbons to hundreds of proud exhibitors.

He had stimulated state pride in agricultural achievement by hitting the top of the New York market each year with his fatted lambs, and by turning out annually 1200 head of so fat Hereford steers for the English market.

When the votes were counted it was found Gore's farmer friends had put "The Lone Wolf" over the top for the nomination, and on Nov. 4 they turned the trick again and elected him.

Whereupon his nickname was changed overnight to "The Miracle Man."

A STOCKY, round headed, smooth-faced man of 46 Gore looks just the sort of "common sense" individual Coolidge would prefer at the head of the Department of Agriculture.

That he can apply common sense, his friends say, was demonstrated some years ago when he was preparing to buy several hundred additional head of steers for fattening.

His mother, with whom he lives in Clarkburg, his wife being dead, remarked at the increasing numbers of jobless men applying at the kitchen door for a "handout."

Gore put two and two together, and got the right answer.

Increasing numbers of jobless men meant a decreasing market for fancy beefsteaks.

If the market was going off, there'd be no money in buying cattle to feed. So he didn't buy.

And the slump in the market that soon followed didn't catch him long on high-priced steers. G.

BILL PROVIDES FOR THEATRE CENSORSHIP

To be introduced in Next Legislature by Earl W. Payne, State Senator-Elect

MINISTERS BACK OF BILL

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 1—Strict theatrical censorship and rigid restriction of Sunday theatrical performances and motion picture exhibitions will be asked in a bill to be introduced in the legislature by Earl W. Payne, state senator elect from Monroe, Green and Brown counties he announced today.

The Rev. Roscoe Carpenter, of Green county, is said to be trying to organize a fight for the bill in the House and Senate, and ministers throughout the state are said to be back of the bill.

Before the election, the Motion Picture Exhibitors' association sent out to all exhibitors letters denying a report that Ed Jackson, now Governor-elect, was in favor of abolishing Sunday movies.

"We have been too prone to entirely ignore the rising tide of propaganda that is being subtly spread through the agency of the motion picture," Payne said. "While no radical law will be proposed, it is our aim to restrict public exhibits at all times so as to make them truly reflect the moral standards of the American home."

BACK ON THE JOB AGAIN

Now that the basketball season is in full blast, and most of the columnists are back from their summer vacations, Hittin' 'em once more says hello to everybody, and as he embarks on the third year as the pilot of this column, he extends greetings to everyone. The success of the three and a half months trip ahead, depends upon you. Whatever team you are for, boost them with your contrivances—make 'em short, snappy and to the point.

The policy of this column is primarily to boost the Rushville Lions. An occasional job might be directed at your favorite team, but you always have the privilege of striking back. Rather than to throw bouquets, just to get back a bunch of sweet flowers, is not Hittin' 'ems aim. A good sport is the fellow that can smile in the face of defeat and know that he is licked. We expect to get licked several times, and we would rather be expecting a defeat, than to be all built up on downing every team in the state. Let's come up snailin' every time.

REAL BUNCH OF SPORTS

When it comes to being defeated, Newcastle is the best bunch of sports in the state. In past years they took defeat with a smile and complimented the winners. In the game the other night, when Rushville turned the trick, the same spirit was revealed. And they didn't dedicate any new gym for Rushville either.

Was the Photographer a Sport?

Newcastle dedicated the gym at Connersville last week and lost by one point. Three or four times during the game, and every time that Newcastle was in possession of the ball, the photographer took a picture of the teams in action. A flash light used by high powered electric bulbs blinded the Newcastle players and the aim at the basket was completely wiped away. Newcastle fans almost lost their reputation for being good sports. The photographer would have lost his valuable equipment, if he had placed it close enough to the Newcastle rosters. Finally Newcastle called time out, until the photographer got through taking the dedication pictures. The game was lost by one point. Apologies were offered after the game. Newcastle will not dedicate any more gyms where flash light pictures are on the schedule too.

TUNE UP YOUR LIZZIES

Hagerstown is the next stop for Rushville. The Lions play up there Friday night. Get ready to go along.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

After Hagerstown comes a trip to Columbus. Fans are talking about a special train like they took a few years ago. Why not start in now and make arrangements for the train? Start something Mr. Butler.

Connersville now claims that their Ikkis trimmed the Trojans down to Hittin' 'ems size, so the Lions could beat them. Taint so—the Camels gave us the extra humps for the Friday night game.

Speaking of the Camels, Hittin' 'em only wants to say that Shelbyville has a fine team, and their record will be watched with interest by Rush county fans.

The team that will bear watching in this vicinity is the Cows from Moscow. Anyone in Milroy will vouch for that.

HAS A BASEBALL TEAM

Bub Newbold, forward on the Rushville team, is the oldest child in his family, with five other brothers coming on. Homer Gaucker, captain and forward on the Trojan team, who fell and received an injury Friday night, has Bill outclassed when it comes to brothers. He is one of 9 boys in the family.

Just a few hours before the Gauker family came to Rushville for the game, their house caught fire in Newcastle. Someone called the fire department, but it wasn't necessary as Mr. Gaucker had enough held at home to put out two fires.

Spiceland has lost the first six games. The players signed a petition remonstrating against their coach, and threatened to disband unless the township trustee provided a new coach. The parents of the boys took a hand in the matter, ridiculed the action of the boys to such an extent that the dove of peace is once more fitting about the gym, and the team is now going to buckle down and win some games, just to show the coach that they can play basketball.

A Rushville basketball fan was approached recently in a nearby city concerning the prospects of the locals. He was asked concerning the coach here, and the Lion roster replied that it didn't make any difference, that the boys did the playing.

Coach John Swain made rapid strides with the Lions last year, and it appears now as if the Lions are going to reward him for his two years' efforts.

HOW ABOUT IT JOHN?

The coach came from Lizton. The high school won a game there the other night by playing overtime. We see now where the Lions get that overtime stuff.

Rushville isn't to take part in the county tourney. In years gone by, the county teams sorta objected as they wanted to fight it out themselves. This year Carthage is vexed because Rushville isn't in. Carthage will have two swings at the Lions, which should satisfy them.

HAS MOVED FROM MOSCOW
Louis E. Means, former czar of Moscow, is holding forth this season in McNamara's old town—New Palestine.

A VOTE OF THANKS

Hittin' 'em is greatly indebted to Miss Della Rea, Rushville high school senior, who contributed the drawing for the new head that appears over this column. She is an artist on the Holcad staff. Thanks Miss Rea.

Morristown is a team that seems to be taking in a great many honors this year. Their latest victim was Carthage, who lost 64 to 10 at Morristown Saturday night.

Even Before The Game, They Had Fish Picked Out

Turkey is alright on Thanksgiving Day, but we prefer to let it slide by and pick Ikkis meat as our choice, with a little Lion steak on Friday instead of fish. However, the fish is forth-coming. Watch for him.

Star Passer of the West

The west has a habit of producing star forward-passers. Some years back Notre Dame had Johnny Mohardt, one of the greatest passers of all time. California had Erick Muller, who could throw a ball as far as most players can kick. Ohio State had Hoge Workman, a tricky and accurate passer. Now Michigan comes to the front with Benny Friedman, whose passes lifted him to the top rank for the season of 1924.

Goes While Going is Good

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 1.—Practical business judgment and a lot of good common sense prompted Walter Johnson one of the most popular players that ever played baseball, to get out of the major leagues with his head high and the cheers ringing in his ears.

It is a much more pleasing spectacle to see the grand veteran walking out the front door as a star pitcher than to wait for that inevitable exit out of the back gate into the minors as a has-been.

Johnson leaves the major leagues as a major league pitcher. He has been around for nearly twenty years in the American League, but a smart head and a stout arm would have prolonged his career for several more years if he had elected to remain and go the way of those who stick at the game too long.

Johnson knew that the day must come when he would get a call to the office and hear the old, old story from Clarke Griffith: "You've been a great pitcher, Walter, but you know you're through now. We must have some youth on our club. Where do you want to go? Maybe I can find a minor league manager's job for you."

No one will have to find a place for Walter Johnson. He found it himself and in buying the Oakland Club of the Pacific Coast League, the veteran landed a place where he will be happy and where he should prosper. He can pitch for a long time in the Pacific Coast League and he can continue as a manager when the great arm goes back on him. He will be an attraction on the coast and that means business. There are no other pitchers on the coast who are major league pitchers and there is no more popular athlete in the world than Walter Johnson.

His decision to get out of the major leagues when his glory had not been tarnished recalls a conversation after he had lost his second start in the world's series and after he had almost been written out of the big leagues by the experts.

"I'm not through," he said. "I've got a lot more pitching in me. I don't say that it's my major league pitching, but it's good enough for the minor leagues and that's where I may be next year. I know that I could stay with Washington as long as I desired, but I know that the time would come when I would be doing most of my work on the bench. That time is not coming. I'm going to beat it.

"I'm getting to the age where I should get settled some place permanently. I want to get a permanent residence where I can be with my family more regularly and where I can give my children an education. They can't get good schooling traveling around from place to place.

"I love the Pacific Coast and I would be happy living there and my family would be happy. I have some money saved and I'm going to buy a Pacific Coast League club. If I can swing a deal, I'll be something on the coast. You writers have said so many nice things about me that I can't help but know I am an attraction. I want to get into the minor leagues as a major leaguer not as a has-been or a cast-off from the big time."

Three Intersectional Games Will Give Better Idea of Football Teams Prowess

ALL ON THE PACIFIC COAST

Syracuse to Meet University of Southern California—Notre Dame Plays New Year's Day

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Dec. 1.—Only three intersectional games on the Pacific Coast remain to finish the 1924 football season. Syracuse is now enroute for a game next Saturday with the University of Southern California. The University of Pennsylvania and the champion Notre Dame team have games on New Year's day against California and Stanford.

For the first time in a good many years these intersectional games will bring together representative teams of their local sections and a fair test of the respective merits of the far western and middle-western and eastern football should be acquired.

Notre Dame, beyond all doubt, is the greatest team of the year and in Stanford the Indiana eleven will meet a team that has a fair claim to the Pacific Coast championship.

Pennsylvania has one of the three undefeated teams of the east and one of the best in the section and will find in California, an eleven that for several years has been one of the best in the country.

Syracuse and Southern California seem to be evenly matched as they have good teams that have done this year.

With the exception of a few minor games to be played next Saturday, the season closed in the south, east and midwest.

Alabama was chosen the champion team of the southern conference but Centre probably will claim the championship of the south by reason of victories over Alabama and Georgia.

Missouri won the championship of the Missouri Valley conference. Chicago won the title in the western conference. Baylor finished first in the southern conference. Idaho and Gonzaga tied for the top ranking in the Pacific northwestern conference. Colorado won the title in the Rocky Mountain district for the second consecutive season.

Dartmouth, Yale and Pennsylvania were undefeated in the eastern section but they engaged in tie-games. The Army was not defeated by an eastern team but lost to Notre Dame and tied with Yale.

The Army won the service championship by beating the Navy in Baltimore before a crowd of 30,000. The great fighting defense of the Navy kept its goal line from being crossed and the cadets had to win by four field goals kicked by Ed Garbisch, the champion and star center, who finished eight years of varsity football in the game.

MAY EXTEND FEEDER LINE FOR AIR MAIL

Indiana May Have Line From Indianapolis to Chicago to Connect With Main Service

WOULD TAKE SHORTER TIME

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 1.—Private feeder lines from Indiana is by air to the main transcontinental air mail line at Chicago were predicted today by Robert Bryson, Indianapolis postmaster.

If the air mail service grows as fast as the parcel post service (and Bryson predicted that it would) Indianapolis, for instance would be within the next three or four years only two and one half to three hours from Chicago and correspondingly nearer to New York and San Francisco.

By the air mail service now about seventy-two hours is saved on a letter to San Francisco, he said. It takes five or six days for a letter to go through by train while by air, a letter mailed here one morning will be in San Francisco by 5:05 the evening of the following day.

About forty letters are received here by air mail daily, Bryson said.

CARTHAGE GETS A BEATING

(Defeated by Morristown High School Saturday Night, 64 to 10)

Morristown high school gave Carthage a terrible beating Saturday night on the floor in Morristown, with the final count being 64 to 10. Carthage was clear off form, and in the first half made only 3 points, while Morristown had 20. Carthage played with their line-up shifted, due to the absence of a player. The Morristown second team defeated the Carthage second team 32 to 3.

Carthage has an open date next Friday and their next scheduled game will be December 12 at Cumberland.

SCHOOL HOUSE IS GUTTED BY FLAMES

sufficient to reach the top of the building.

Two hose lines were laid, and the domestic pressure from the fire hydrants was not sufficient to reach the roof, or was not strong enough to break the glass in the upstairs windows. The pumper, which was delayed in making an attempt to reach a place to pump from the mill race, was placed at a fire plug and boosted the pressure to where it was needed.

Firemen fought the flames for almost an hour. The fire completely gutted the upstairs rooms, and water did considerable damage to the lower floors. Only the main floor rooms were occupied with school, as the upstairs is used as a community hall for the colored people.

Before the roof collapsed, the school books and wraps belonging to the pupils were removed without any loss being suffered. No other property was in danger, as the wind was favorable.

The building is heated with a furnace and it is believed that the flue was defective, and with the dry shingles, the flames spread rapidly.

Golden Rule Sunday, Dec. 7
The Golden Rule Note Book gives the following information concerning International Golden Rule Sunday Dec. 7, 1924.
"At an international conference in Geneva, Switzerland, September, 1923, representatives of twenty philanthropic organizations from fourteen countries were facing the perplexing problems of the Near East."
"The proposal went forth that Sunday December 2, 1923, be observed as Golden Rule Sunday for the strengthening of international friendship and co-operation and the practical application of the Golden Rule to at least some of the world's problems."
"So successfully was it celebrated last year, that in response to popular demand from several countries the International Near East Association, meeting in Geneva in April 1924, designated Golden Rule Sunday for 1924."
A NATION OF CHILDREN
"Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times, while in the Near East this summer, reviewed 11,000 orphaned children who marched past in a single afternoon. Some of them were so small they had to be carried on the shoulders of the older boys. Government officials declared that at least 75 percent of these children would have perished during the past year had it not been for outside relief. On a hillside, overlooking ancient Sidon, is the Bird's Nest orphanage, so called because it nestles 407 birdies, all of kindergarten age. Five hundred miles away on the island of Cephalonia, is the "Doll House" sheltering babies and children, who were born several hundred miles distant in Turkey, and have little or no knowledge of the fate of their fathers and mothers. Most of these children would not be living today if it had not been for 'Golden Rule' philanthropy."
"The older children are given industrial training that will lead to self-support and industrial leadership. As rapidly as possible the children in the orphanages are being placed in homes or apprenticed in industry."

GOLDEN RULE SUNDAY
On this day all persons who believe in Golden Rule are asked to provide for their Sunday dinner approximately the same simple menu provided for the tens of thousands of children in the Near East Relief orphanages. It is not a fast or a "starvation meal"; it is a fare on which a hundred thousand children have attained health and strength with a death rate lower than the published death rate of any large city in the world.

Society for Mental Hygiene
The Indiana Society for Mental hygiene will hold its annual meeting December 8 in the assembly room of the Claypool Hotel, Indianapolis. Morning session at 9:30, afternoon session at 1:30; evening session at 8 p. m. Persons interested in Mental Health for the community are invited to attend.

The club is an organization of the former pupils of Mr. Logan, who hold him in high esteem and look forward to these meetings with a very great degree of pleasure. The evening was spent socially and with a program consisting of instrumental music, songs and an old fashioned spelling bee. Angel food cake and brick ice cream was served for refreshments and the guests leaving at a late hour, said it was one of the happiest and jolliest meetings the club has ever enjoyed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Osborn, also of Shelby county.

Blanket Weather

The Secret of a Good Night's Sleep

To sleep the long night through without any interruption from early morning cold, is doubly assured with our blankets. The excellent quality of the fiber used in the weaving provides a high degree of protection from cold and offers exceptional lightness of weight.

COTTON
Our Cotton Blankets serve splendidly as sheet blankets. The soft cotton fiber retains warmth and does not scratch the body. As a cover they are eminently serviceable, because of the warmth and beauty.

WOOL
When the bitter cold nights of winter penetrate every nook and cranny of the house, a wool blanket is very much of a necessity. Each bed should have one, with plenty of body and width, light enough to permit of uninterrupted slumber.

A Mystery of the North Woods

A sheriff, a coroner and two Indian guides were, on last reports, ploughing their way through the north woods to a lonely cabin (seen below), 70 miles from Warrand, Minn., the nearest railway town, to investigate the murder of Mrs. Dean Wheeler (upper right) Mrs. Wheeler, bride of a few weeks, and her husband had gone into the wilderness to spend the winter. But their adventure soon turned to tragedy. First word of the slaying was brought to Warrand by two hunters. Her husband meanwhile stood guard over her body. When she entered the woods, Mrs. Wheeler, reputed to have been quite wealthy, was wearing a valuable jewelry and carrying $1000. It is said.

26,500 LICENSES ISSUED TEACHERS

Exchanged For Old Licenses Under the Provisions of New Teacher's Licensing Law

ANNUAL REPORT PUBLISHED

Indiana State Normal of Terre Haute Supplied More Teachers Than Other Schools

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—Approximate 26,500 licenses were issued to teachers in Indiana during the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30, 1924 in exchange for old licenses under the provisions of the new teacher's licensing law.

Five thousand two hundred ninety teachers received new licenses during the year, also.

This was the announcement made in the annual report today of the teacher's licensing division of the state department of public instruction.

The Indiana State normal school of Terre Haute, supply more teachers who received new licenses during the year than any other school in the state, the report said. Teachers who graduated from this school and who received licenses during the year totaled 713. The Teachers' College of Indianapolis supply 544, the next highest number. Of the standard colleges in the state Indiana university supplies 504, more than any other.

The number coming from various standard normal schools in the state were: Central Normal college, 328; Eastern Division of the Indiana State Normal School, 382; Tri-State College, 141; and Valparaiso college, 128.

The number supplied by the various standard Indiana colleges were: Manchester college, 207; Purdue University, 205; Oakland City college, 173; DePauw university, 165; Evansville college, 104; Hanover college, 102; Indiana Central college, 62; Franklin college, 37; Earlham, 68; Wabash, 41; St. Mary's college, 34; Notre Dame, 14; Goshen college, 13; and St. Mary's of the Woods, 2.

All colleges outside of the state furnished a total of 957 teachers who obtained licenses during the year.

The new teacher's licensing law under which the licenses were exchanged was passed by the last legislature and went into effect September 1923. The new law put new requirements upon teachers before they could obtain licenses and provided for the exchange of old licenses for new ones authorized in the provisions of the new law.

The most essential provisions of the new law were the doing away with examinations as a basis for licensing and places it upon actual school preparation, the minimum of which is placed at thirty-six weeks above high school graduation for elementary licenses and three weeks of college training for high school teachers.
